

Call for Abstracts

North American Society of Obstetric Medicine (NASOM)
Annual Conference
March 29th and 30th, 2019
Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

NASOM Annual Meeting is a wonderful opportunity to share your research and clinical work with others who share your interests in medical disorders in pregnancy.

Abstract submissions are now being accepted for the March 2019 NASOM Annual Meeting to be held at the Marriott Pinnacle Downtown Hotel, in Vancouver, British Columbia.

The body of the abstract should be no more than 250 words and may include new research, work in progress/new proposals, topic reviews, as well as case reports. Case reports should highlight the importance of cases to be presented and what they add to the existing literature. Research abstracts should be structured to include: Background and Purpose, Methods, Results and Conclusions. Submissions must include the presenting author and collaborators' titles and affiliations as you would like them to appear in the meeting's abstract material.

Presentations will be reviewed by the scientific committee of the society and all authors will be notified of the status of their abstract. Presentations may be accepted for poster or oral presentation. Oral presentations will be allotted approximately 10 minutes.

The two best oral presentations and the two best posters by a junior faculty/trainee (with less than 5 years in practice) will be honored; this includes the Peter Garner Young Investigator Prize which will be awarded to the best oral presentation. Please indicate on your application if the presenting author is a junior faculty/trainee.

Please make every effort to submit abstracts for consideration by midnight on December 1st, 2018 as a Microsoft Word attachment to Lise Bayard at info@NASOM.org.

Look for upcoming information on the March 29th and 30th, 2019 NASOM Annual Meeting by visiting our website at: www.nasom.org.